HEADSTART PROGRAM TO SPONSOR COUNTRY MUSIC SHOW, SUNDAY, JULY 1

Country music lovers in the Bethel area will be getting a look at some of the best in Maine Country, Sunday afternoon, July 1, as the Headstart Program sponsors Rick Wells and his Wagon Wheels at the Telstar Auditorium.

The Headstart program benefits those in the communities of West Paris, Bethel, Bryant Pond and Locke Mills. The three hour show, slated to begin at 2 o'clock, promises good singing, excellent backing and an excellent clown for youngsters and oldsters.

Wells writes much of his material, some of which he recorded on the St. George International label and stars each Saturday night at the Wagon Wheel Ranch in Steep Falls, Maine.

If there are requests, Rick Wells has promised to do an additional concert that evening of July 1. Prices are moderate; children under 12 are admitted free. It is an excellent opportunity for parents to take their children to see a country concert.

More information may be obtained from a member of the Headstart Program.

COMMENTS FROM THE OFFICE OF THE TOWN MANAGER

Preliminary figures indicate there will be a gain of close to $500,000 in tax valuation for 1973. The assessors should be prepared to set the tax rate at their meeting next Monday night.

There will be some people in Monday night to discuss the possibility of the town's constructing an old road in East Bethel. This is a road very few of us knew existed until a short time ago. An individual has purchased land and wants to build a home at the end of the road. An investigation is being conducted as to the town's responsibility. We cannot find where there has been a discontinuance. If further research does not provide more information we could be forced to repair and maintain it. The selectmen are going to make a personal inspection of the area. We then will have to decide what we are going to do and how best to obtain the necessary funds.

GREENWOOD CITY

— Mrs. Cellista Morgan, Correspondent —
Have you read Eleanor G. Vance's "June Inventory?" I have many times. I am sharing it today.

I take an inventory now and then. To see what things I own. Now once again.

I find that I am wealthy. There's the sky,
Bright blue with snowy lambskins
racing by,
Bumping their heads in foolish,
childlike ways.

There's sunshine, and the drowsy
summer haze
That gives excuse for laziness.
There's rain
That breaks the heat as suddenly
as pain.

Is dulled by gentle hands. Then
there are nights
Of quivering softness, pierced by little lights.

From fireflies and stars. And
there are trees
That seem to laugh with ever little breeze.

That ruffles them. And there are fields of wheat.
And grass grows even by a city
street.

No matter what my fortunes,
these will be Possessions I may keep eternally.

A few days ago I went to the sea
where the surf is flying high by the endless battle of the waves.

Our boat was launched in the Saco
River where for a time we fished for stripers. Then we moved on past Fort Ellis out into the bay among the islands.

June's day was golden with its lemon yellow sun and sparkling waters. Occasionally there was a small explosion of clouds somewhere in the endless blue sky.

A breeze was forever wafting
waves where sandpipers strutted on skinny legs, tall, as if walking on stilts.

Where we anchored for lunch, the sea gulls were nesting in the distance; tiny bundles of down not yet ready for flight.

As we spent the afternoon we had
much fun for the fishing was good.
My water and I did most of that while her husband guided the boat.

netted the fish.

Far beyond us lobster boats panted
on their way while gulls screamed
above them.

Around the points of some islands
the Atlantic battered the cliffs and the breakers clawed into the angling rock shapes. The walls of granite turned the inrolling waves into upward shooting spray. It burst sky-

watching the surf as it swirls,
pounds, and breaks in rumbling
thunder.

Ducks came hurtling out of the

looking had a fitting accompaniment of ocean sounds.

Only with an experienced pilot,
which we had, do I enjoy the ocean,
while in a boat and only when it isn't rough. I'm not a true "seaman" as are those born and brought up with it.

Late afternoon we again fished the Saco for awhile then left for home
having spent a perfect day listening to the song of the sea, buoyant
and free.

The sun slipped beyond the horizon
and our road wound back to the hills of home.

Night came and was beautiful; the other half of day's circle. Thin clouds floated in the splendor of

SOUTH WOODSTOCK

— Mrs. Olive Davis, Corres. —

The driving course sponsored by Franklin Grange in conjunction with West Paris Grange and Bear River was completed, Wednesday, June 13. E. C. Bartlett was the instructor. It was a very worthwhile course and we feel that calling our attention to faulty driving habits, which were like to admit, and instructing us in the correct procedure to combat them errors is a big boon in preventing so many accidents. There were 23 Grangers and friends taking the course.

Mr. Bartlett is a fine instructor, making us all feel at ease and demonstrating driving points with showing of appropriate films, charts, blackboard and magnetic board in a very able manner. We certainly thank him for all his efforts. Mr. Bartlett is a deputy sheriff in Oxford County.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Davis were in Lewiston and Auburn Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Bryant, stopping. They called on Mrs. Robert Oke in Auburn in the afternoon. Joe Young spent Tuesday with Ellis Davis at Kory Hook on North Pond.

Ellis Davis joined with the B. A. class of '21 at Locke Mills, Jordan's Restaurant Tuesday for their annual class meeting and dinner. Those attending were the hostess, Elizabeth Young, Upha Davis, Lida Tord, Helen Oke, Julia Moore, Katherine Rolfe, our English teacher, Florence Bennett, Olive Davis and Gladys Knight.

After having our lunch we went to Mrs. Young's camp in Gladys' boat on Lake Christopher for a class picnic.

We were sorry to find four of the class were unable to attend. Elizabeth Moore, being ill, was not there. Martha Ryan, Massachusetts, and Mary Marsh, Michigan, were not present. Hope Chaplin (nee) had other engagements.

A message from one of the B. A. class of '21 who is ill with emphysema. If you haven't stopped smoking "stop now," she says. "This is awful" and she wishes she had never taken up the habit.

I wrote this note as a suggestion.

It has been reported that in some parts of our town nine cats were dumped out beside the road to get their way living. Also a couple of dogs were dropped in another area. "Don't you think that is rather a cruel thing to do?" They need food on much as you do. How would you like to be dumped out in the woods to fend for yourself? If you don't want these animals, take them to Norway animal pound or take care of them carefully. It's better than starving to death and dying by inches as the saying goes. Think twice and don't be so unkind to your pets.
